平成 29 年度 第 4 回 数理分子生命理学セミナー

日時：平成 29 年 5 月 17 日(水) 14:35～

場所：理学部E209 講義室

講師：Nagisa Matsumoto

Creighton University Class of 2019, College of Arts and Sciences

演題：Undergraduate College Life in America

要旨：Nagisa, a current undergraduate student of the College of Arts and Sciences at Creighton University in Omaha, Nebraska, will be speaking about the university and her experiences as a student. After graduating from Punahou School in Honolulu, Hawaii, she is pursuing a major in Exercise Science on the Pre-Medicine track, and aspiring to be a future doctor. She will talk about Creighton University's campus and facilities, academics, and extracurricular activities both on and off campus. She will go into detail about the educational system in place at Creighton, and the types of classes she has been taking. After finishing an undergraduate degree, there are many options post-graduation as well including getting a Master's degree, professional school, or going straight into work. As for activities on campus, there are many different clubs and organizations that you can join, as well as Greek life.
